WHAT HAS BEEN YOUR PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE HERE AT HEIDELBERG?

Even if you have the potential to excel; don't . . . J.D. Hewitt
 Getting through college and having fun while doing it . . . Larry Nedolast
 Listen to everybody, learn from everybody, decide for yourself, be yourself . . . Leslie-Elizabeth Oster
 It's what you make it . . . Mary Kissiday
 To get the most out of my years at college. It also helps you to grow, and to relate to people, which will be beneficial in later years after college . . . Rick Cremeans
 Live life to the fullest and live it one day at a time. I have tried to make a few good friends and hope to maintain these friendships. I have tried to maintain my identity as an individual . . . Kevin Bokeno Observe, listen, learn, and hopefully understand . . . Michael J. Frank Carpe Diem — sieze each day by living it to its fullest potential . . . Wade Young
 To survive emotionally, mentally, physically, and economically . . . Lawrence Hartley

Don't associate with music majors. . . K.K.
 Situational ethics: If you have fun and don't get caught who can possibly condemn you, and if they do it's not a reflection on yourself, but rather a statement on their own mentality . . . Kenneth Frey
 To be as involved as possible, yet enjoying these activities, being as successful as possible! . . . Cheryl Mruczek
 Philosophy? . . . Stephen P. Cook
 My philosophy has been to be myself, do the things that I want to do, no matter what others think I should be doing . . . Kevin Hoover
 To study hard but not so hard that it got in the way of having fun . . . Kim Koprowski
 The Liberal Arts Education at Heidelberg is extremely valuable to me . . . Eva Deloris Jordan
 A few friends make it all tolerable . . . Noel MacFetrich
 Life is like a comic strip; how it is lived is the difference between a "Doonesbury" and a "Mary Worth" . . . Blair Tarr

To get the most I can from my friends and teachers and to give in proportion. . . Jeffrey H. King
 You must try to experience everything possible that's offered here because the opportunity that each experience affords is not likely to be presented again in your lifetime. . . Michael Butts
 Life is as fun as you make it . . . Sue Ferenz
 Not to sacrifice my individuality for the hypocrisy of being accepted, and not to refuse to merely accentuate it! . . . Marcy Gillan
 My philosophy has been to "do unto others as you would have them do unto you." . . . Beth Wolfe

WHAT WORDS OF WISDOM WOULD YOU LIKE TO LEAVE FOR THE UNDERCLASSMEN OF HEIDELBERG COLLEGE?

Don't let books get in the way of your education . . . Jeffrey H. King

If you must play the game, make sure that it doesn't catch up with you too soon . . .

Michael Butts

College is the best time of your life — DON'T WASTE IT! . . . Sue Frenz

Since experience is the greatest teacher and her lessons the best learned; I leave no words, preferring that anyone who comes here learn the hazards and blessings on their own . . .

Steven Edward Swope

Keep the Bash alive . . . Noel MacFetrich

My words of wisdom would be get involved! College life can be fun if you let it. If you sit in your room for four years, what memories will you have? Everyone has their own special interests that have a place on the campus. With the smallness of Heidelberg, everyone has a chance to belong in their own special way . . . Theresa Hietz

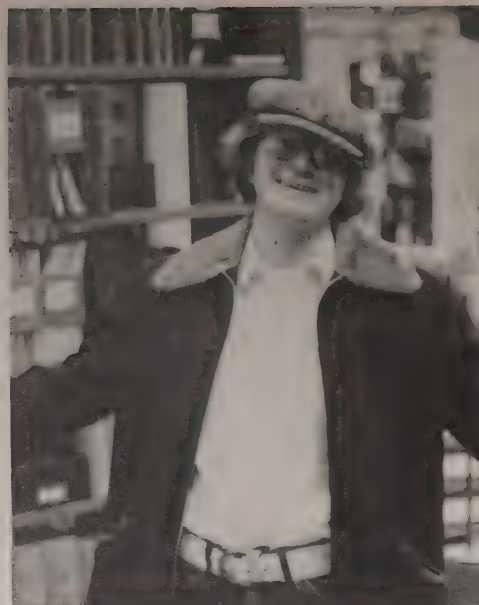

Stay at the 'Berg, where life is mellow, people are friendly and tuition is high . . . J. D. Hewit

To get their major requirements early, then take the courses to help you through life. Take some recreation classes too . . . Larry Nedolast

Get as involved as you can, and enjoy it while you're here. Your four years at the 'Berg will sail by fast . . . Cindy McFarland

Be honest to yourself and study, but also enjoy your life . . . William Taylor (B.T.)

Get to know many types of people and accept them for what they are. Don't exclude yourself from extracurricular activities, you'll learn just as much if not more as from your books . . . Leslie-Elizabeth Oster

Enjoy yourself here! Make the most of what the 'Berg has to offer, and take advantage of the events and activities that go on. People get so bent out of shape about studying — no wonder students don't enjoy life at the 'Berg . . . Judy Gilbert

Getting by is not enough, to succeed is the ultimate goal . . . Nancy Swallow

Get involved, it really counts . . . Mary Kissiday

Be involved. The one thing that I have learned is to get to know a lot of people, considering Heidelberg's size it's not all that hard . . . Rick Cremeans

Take advantage of every opportunity. Get involved — the 'Berg is what you make it! Remember, sweat is the cologne of success . . . Kevin Bokeno

Take pride in being yourself, find your own path and stick to it, and also realize there is a lot you can do for other people and you will grow from it . . . Michael Frank

Make the most of your years here at the 'Berg. They pass too quickly for their deserved appreciation . . . Wade Young

Keep your chin up Heidelberg football fans because things will change drastically for the better . . . Lawrence Hartley

Don't come! . . . K.K.

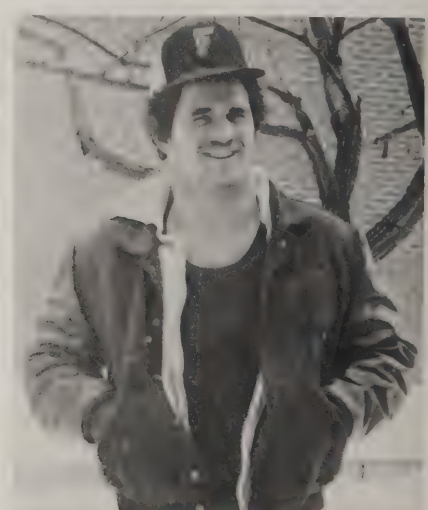

It's not worth taking seriously . . . Kenneth Frey

If I can make it, anybody can . . . Stephen Cook

Be yourself!! You are the only one that you have to please, so please only yourself . . . Kevin Hoover

Hard work pays off with a degree . . . Eva Jordan

There are a multitude of experiences here in which everyone can be involved to grow and develop as an entire person. Grasp every opportunity that you can, for passing up any experience is a discontinuation of your education . . . Sheryl Carls

WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE REMEMBERED FOR?

A crazy abstract expressionist artist in a long, blue denim jacket, who sacrificed everything for the cultural aspect of life . . . J. D. Hewit

Good question! My beautiful, NATURAL, blonde hair!!! . . . Judy Gilbert

For being myself . . . Mary Kissiday

Just to be remembered . . . Rick Cremeans

I forget . . . Kevin Bokeno

Helping people . . . Klaus Schonrank

Being a blonde haired, blue eyed, German . . . Lawrence Hartley

My charm, good looks and wit, flashy clothes, sex appeal, not to mention my fast beautiful sports car; but I will settle for being remembered for anything, just remember . . . Kenneth Frey

Donuts, coffee tables in King, drugbaby, Star Trek . . . Patti Pohlchuck

Always being able to con someone into going downtown — "for just ONE beer." . . . Stephen Cook

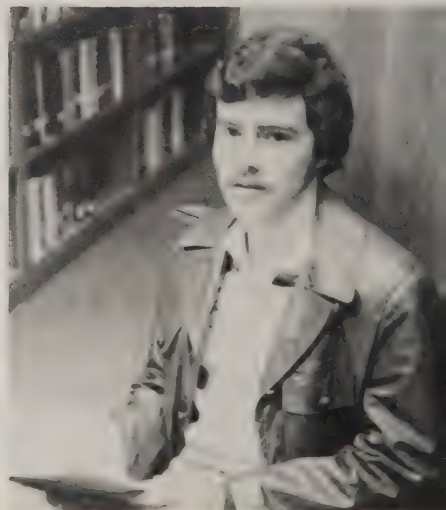

I would like to be remembered for my work in theatre here; as someone who came here with a goat and left having achieved it . . . Jeffrey King

I would like to be remembered especially for my concern for the "entire Heidelberg" through my work in the Kikilikil and in my honest relationships with people on this campus . . . Beth Wolfe

My laugh, smile, and positive attitude . . . Kim Koprowski

My desire to help people achieve their goals and realize their dreams . . . Michael Butts

I don't even care if I am remembered . . . Stephen Swope

WHERE WILL YOU BE TEN YEARS FROM NOW?

In 1989 . . . Mary Gillan

Following the commencement exercises, I will hop aboard a freight train behind Krammes, beginning a five year career as a hobo, the culmination of which will be my election as King of the Hoboes. The second five years will be spent preparing the definitive encyclopedia of the American comic strip. At the end of the ten years, the field which I have spent four years preparing for should open up. If not, I will offer my services to the Nevin Harwick Institute of Frisbee Aerodynamics . . . Blair Tarr

The combination of Shirley Temple and Bette Davis, taking the place of Barbara Walters in broadcasting . . . Leslie-Elizabeth Oster

If I knew I'd tell you . . . Nancy Swallow

Hopefully, I wish to keep on learning. It's important to keep furthering your education; I think it's the key to success . . . Rick Cremeans

Wallowing in wealth, fame and friendship . . .

I'll send you all a post card! . . . Kenneth Frey

Big Chuck's, fourth seat from the tap — where else! . . . Stephen Cook

I figure since I've never gotten paid for anything I've done here, 10 years from now I should be paid phenomenal amounts of money doing absolutely nothing . . . Patty Pohlchuck

Hell — if I don't change my ways!! Hopefully, in the mountains somewhere with a combined practice in Vet Med . . . Sheryl Carls

Tiffin, Ohio, Heidelberg College, assistant to the president . . . J. D. Hewit

Your guess is as good as mine . . . Kevin Bok-eno

I don't know, but I hope I'll be happy . . . Ron Ingalls

SPECIAL EVENTS

Entering a New World

Graduation '78 . . . a time of joy (and relief) as students receive their long awaited diplomas. Seniors soon leave the world of Heidelberg behind, but not before some parting shots.

Heidelberg banner ushers in the Class of 1978. President Fishel contemplates the year that was. Sarah McGranahan sports a senior smile. Graduates march into the future. Lalegul Ergun, an exchange student from Turkey, gave Heidelberg a chance to know a different corner of the world. Peter Mantey, Honors Convocation speaker, offers thought-provoking insight to his fellow students. Ann Lounsberry hangs onto a hard-earned diploma. Alice Cepulo lines up for the processional. Retiring professor Frank Kramer accepts honors from classics students Diana Bel-san and Nevin Harwick as Dean Porter looks on. Nancy Beck on the way to a new world. The "Lunchroom professor", Dr. Lemke in graduation garb. The unknown photographer: pictures for remembering. Joan Kuebler attains long-awaited goal.

Home Away From Home

You've said your goodbyes and finally you're "on your own". Soon Brown, France, King, and Krieg become your second home — complete with fighting for the morning shower booth, locking yourself out of your room, and all those good midnight talks.

Food for Thought

Feeding our minds and our bodies . . . most college students spend a large part of their time eating — or studying — or eating. While Hoernemann may not match mom's cooking, the soft serve ice cream machine and conversation make for a good excuse to get away from those long library hours.

Left (clockwise from top left): Patti Richardson contemplates another exciting meal. Dishroom worker Lori Warren waits for your tray. Cafeteria conversationalists Carolyn Barber and "B" Rogers lunch through a heavy discussion while Paul Stallings munches on.

Special Times, Places and People

Somewhere in the middle of self-discovery, we find time to give ourselves and our talents to others.

Left (clockwise from top): Brenneman Music Hall, creative hub of the Heidelberg music world. Jim Wren and Jeff King calmly wait in the donor's line at the Bloodmobile. Giving the gift of life: nurse preps a student blood donor. At OSMEA workshops, students work to develop their musical skills.

Right (top four pictures): CCPBsponsored concert brings the special talent of Geoff Tyus to the Castle.

(bottom two pictures): Convocations are one way of recognizing those who give of themselves. Here President Fishel awards citation to Alumnus Theodora Wilson for outstanding social service.

Homecoming 1978 was Heidelberg's ticket to a world of activities. Chairpersons Mark Jones and Linda Bird along with a dedicated committee brought the campus alive for a week jam-packed with events both old and new.

Left (top l to r): Kay-K. Roberson's dramatic interpretation highlighted Tuesday's Africa Day. Jeff Bricker downs one at Wednesday's Oktoberfest as chairperson Lori Ferguson looks on.

Middle: Polka Contest winners Jeannie Gallagher and Terri Dodgeson demonstrate talented feet to the tune of a German band.

Middle: Homecoming Court at Friday's Coronation dance. 1978 Queen and King Betsey McFarlane and Bill Shepard on stage.

Bottom: Heid's float sails along Greenfield in Saturday's parade. Marching Band presents a highly entertaining half-time show. Stephen Baird, coffeehouse performer, was on hand all day to keep spirits high.

Voices of Experience

Opera Theatre Workshop offers students a taste of the Met without leaving Tiffin. This year's production, under the direction of Norm and Pam Wurgler, provided students with an educational overview of several operas.

Eat, Drink and Be Merry

With the arrival of the Christmas season, the Castle puts on its best array for CCPB's annual Madrigal Dinner. The Middle Ages come alive with all the trimmings — court musicians and singers, jesters and wenches, and, of course, an Old English meal.

Top: The festivities begin with the stately entrance of the Lord and Lady of the Manor, Mike Butts and Leslie Oster.

Middle: The guest of honor arrives — the boar's head, born by jesters Ron Shaw, Jim Wren, and Larry DeVecka.

Bottom: Musicians eagerly eye the appearance of dinner. Eileen Flanagan, Brian Schaff and Tim Huffman. Sharon Nieter is surprised by antics of a hungry jester. This Dinner is brought to you by . . . the Castle crew works hard behind the scenes — Donita Johnson, fills an order while Mike Garber keeps things moving. Mistletoe sprouts where one least expects it — with a little bit of help. Tired jester heads for the kitchen as Madrigal meets a merry end.

A Time to Begin A Time to Celebrate

The year reaches its halfway mark with the annual performance of the Messiah. With the arrival of the holiday season, Heidelberg celebrates not only the spirit of Christmas, but the satisfaction of getting through first semester with flying colors. Before the finals crunch sets in, we take some time to look back at the beginning of the year, and our own experiences at "T-bridge."

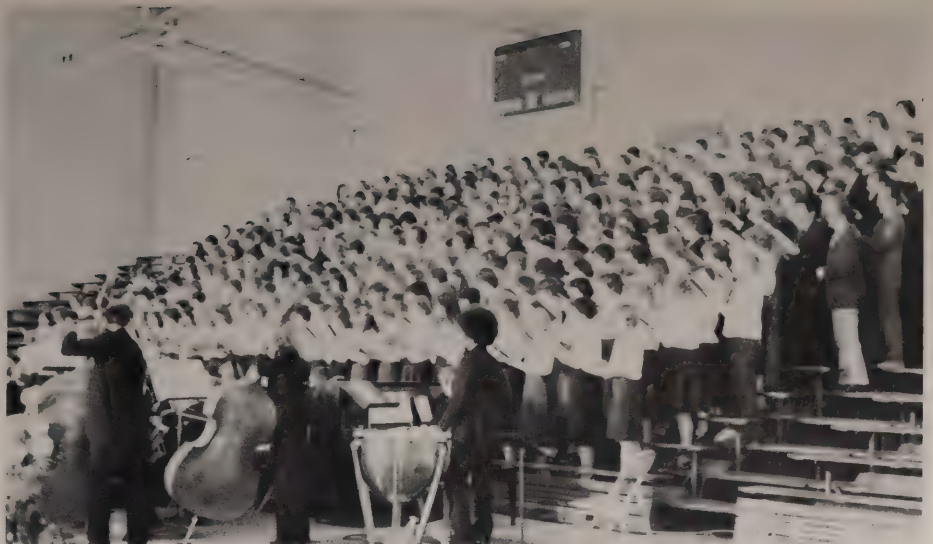

Left (top, l. to r.): A plunge in rock creek is one of many student's earliest memories of Orientation. Gary Steinmetz enlightens some freshmen about the pleasures of T-Bridge night.

Bottom: Upperclassmen lend a helping hand.

Something to Satisfy Everyone's Taste

Weekends were made for Heidelberg. They were full of "wild and crazy" happenings and there was never a dull moment, unless, of course, you stayed locked in your room. And even then . . .

Opposite (top to bottom, l to r): Marie Morano and Cindy Smith help spice up the weekend life by helping set up for a dance. "Sweet Honey: the Rock" sweetened Heidelberg's cultural appetite. Mike Frank craves the taste of victory, (almost) at Circle K's Las Vegas night. Scott Haskins looks on and wonders if this is the newest dance, or a case of Mexican jumping beans. Bill Kelly and Larry Eberley take time out for a bit of refreshment — served by Karen Kovalow.

Sigma Tau

Sigma Tau Nu is presently the smallest fraternity on the Heidelberg campus. This, however, means that we must be the most unified in order to overcome the deficiency in numbers. We like to think of our fraternity as the most diversified on campus, our brothers all retaining their individuality while at the same time being an integral part of the whole brotherhood. At all times we try to live up to our motto both individually and as a brotherhood. That motto is Nulli Secundus, Second to None.

FACULTY

WHAT'S IN A YEAR?

How can you characterize a year in a lively place like Heidelberg? In my perambulations today (it's early March), I've talked with students and faculty members who were at their midweek lows or early spring highs. Some were in transit from low to high (or vice versa) and others were uncertain about where they were. And so it goes, building up to the excitement of a year's end and commencement. The first characterization of a lively place like Heidelberg, then, must be that it is like a kaleidoscope, slightly patterned, always colorful, never changing.

The kaleidoscope metaphor fades when one asks about purpose and direction, and at that point the year takes on a more describable shape. This year, Heidelberg began to take control of the transition in which it and all other institutions of higher learning are trapped: to plan in self-study its profile and lifestyle for the 1980's and beyond, and to grapple in committees with sensitive issues like retirement, tenure, and building useage.

Control was not complete, however. The year repetitiously worried about finances and enrollment. Our freshman class increased by a greater percentage than that of any other Ohio Athletic Conference but one, and our projected budget showed solid signs of shrinking during the year; the battle to increase enrollment and maintain fiscal stability was constant during the year. This tension was relieved by the joys of living with and teaching persons of excellence. I think of the senior who cannot decide on an initial career because her talents in medicine, biology, writing, book illustration or just plain organizing compete within her. I think of the small group who organized and prepared a vegetarian dinner for between 50 and 60 persons who braved the beginnings of a miniblizzard, or the invention of waderball, or the varsity basketball teams — the women who finished so strong and the men who climbed higher than any previous Heidelberg basketball team. I think of the social service activities of so many individuals and a growing number of student organizations, like Circle K; even the Ex's performed admirably helping to raise over $2,000 for the county humane society.

In short, the year was lively, marked by the tense and the slack, the ups and the downs. The purpose became clear to most as the year progressed: how can I get ready for the rest of my life? The direction was still fuzzy to many: which way is up? But the College, rich in music, science and the humanities, blessed with attractive buildings and grassways, is wealthy only because students and staff interact with one another to become more knowledgeable, more humane and more useful human beings. And that happened here this year.

Leslie H. Fishel, Jr.

I am leaving Heidelberg College with mixed feelings. In the one hand there is a sense of loss; on the other there is the anticipation of new challenges as I work with labor and management disputes. The community of Heidelberg has meant a great deal to me over the past twelve years. I will miss the contacts and friendships of students, faculty, administrators and trustees. My future work will be enriched by the contributions of members of this community.

The College has continued to develop strong programs in times of unrest and change. The turmoil of the Viet Nam war and the changes created by the Civil and Equal Rights movements have had their impact on Heidelberg. In many ways the College is a different institution than it was twelve years ago. Currently there are no required convocations and fines/double cuts for going home early on vacation. The future is filled with problems for all of us in higher education, including Heidelberg College. Despite these pressures the College will continue to grow because of the strength of its students, faculty and staff.

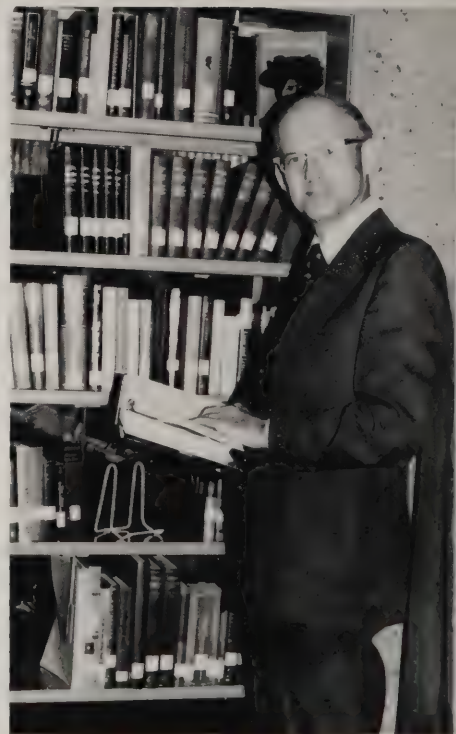

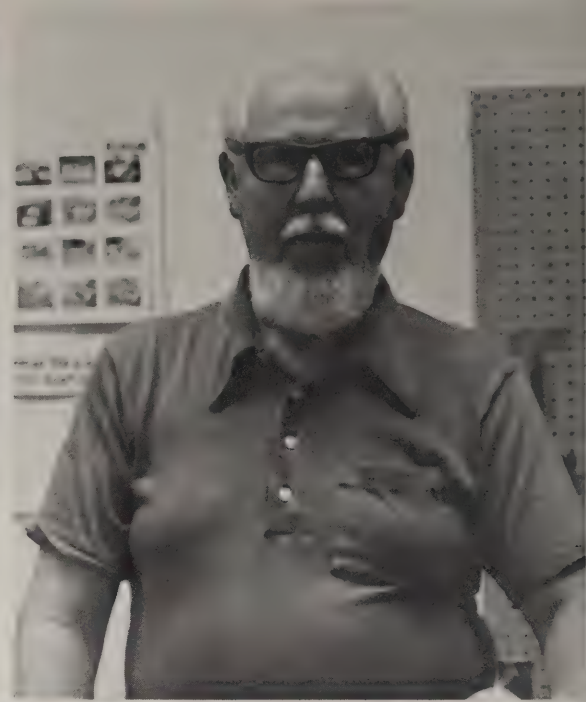

My best wishes to all of you. I will watch the growth of the College, as expressed through students, alumni and faculty, with interest and hope.

In Memory of Al Hobson

Any Man

Believe the ancients who say
The head is the center of knowledge,
The heart — of emotion,
The mouth — of thought.

The man who thinks about
Thinks most clearly,
And most honestly,
He shares his substance.

A man who thinks with his head
Does so by logic and cold logic
In hopes to deceive.

When a man's head is full with reason,
The overflow pours out in his words and
And permeates his very being.

A man who feels with his heart
Ignores the mutiny in his own mind.

A man at odds with himself needs know
But emotion and thought as well —
And most of all wisdom.

Heaven is the center of wisdom.

Al Hobson

On November 29th at 10:30 p.m. Al Hobson was killed in a car accident. With his death at the age of 23, Heidelberg College lost one of its finest.

During his four years in college, Al worked hard in English, speech, and sports, but also spent many hours making people happy. Whether talking with them individually, portraying a role on the stage, or just lending a slightly eccentric hand, his main concern was people.

After he graduated, he began teaching high school English, coaching wrestling, and helping with school and community theater in Troy, Ohio.

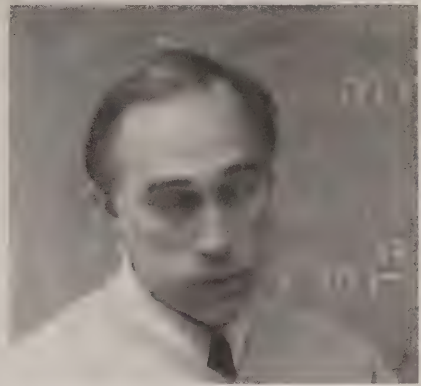

With all that Al worked toward in mind, the following award has been established with the help of Al's friend and college roommate, John Deuble.

The Alfred T. Hobson Award, based upon gifts in memory of a 1977 alumnus killed in a car accident in 1978. This cash award is made annually to the junior or senior majoring in English or Communication and Theater Arts whose qualities of character best reflect Al Hobson: joie de vivre, wit and wits, eccentricity and spontaneity, ingenuity and imagination, congeniality and altruism.

Well, we finally made it. To Patty, I say thanks for the patience, guidance, and moral support. To B.K. I say here's to next year's book. To all you music majors who are upset because some pictures are missing, I say if someone in the music department were on the Aurora staff, maybe they wouldn't be missing. And finally to the rest of the campus — if you don't like this book, please tell me and I'll put you on next year's staff, O.K.? O.K.

Laura Short

All along, I really felt nervous about this book. I wanted it to be something great and one that I would not be ashamed to sign my name to. And here it is. I'm glad it's over. It was a lot of fun but most importantly, thanks to Patty and Laura (it was a good time, guys!). To the rest of you Heidelbergers: ENJOY!

Worlds within worlds . . .

World (n.) . . . a particular division, section, a generation of inhabitants of the earth distinguished by living together at the same place or at the same time . . .

The world is round and the place which may seem like the end may also be only the beginning.

— Ivy Baker Priest
